

The Budapest based TUNEL KFT will celebrate its 30th anniversary in 2015. For the occasion we call for an international cartoon contest, which concentrates on the humorous touch of the everyday life of civil engineering

Theme: Civil engineering – at professional level

Supposing there was no notion for civil engineering it would surely have been named after our company! We just love laying pipes, digging deep into the ground and moving big quantities of earth. Our excavators have unearthed archaeological sites, WW II bombs and high pressure gas pipes previously laid, which we may call breaking news in our line of work. Our work is signalled by road blocks, traffic jams and nervous breakdowns. Still everybody is happy when we finish the job! Despite the unpleasant side effects, we eventually bring a better and higher quality life to people.
